Mr. BLAINE evidently thinks the country considers him "a daisy."

Mr. ELKINS, of star route fame, will be the Dorsey of the campaign of 1884.

For real unblushing and unmitigated rascality, Jake Wheeler is not very far behind Grant's bank.

The New York Tribune admits that Blaine is a tattooed statesman, but declares that Washington and Lincoln were also.

The New York Sun is cranky. When it cannot have its own peculiar way, in democratic politics, it inclines to be republican.

Forty independent and republican papers have already declared their opposition to Blaine, and their unwillingness to support him for the presidency.

The idea of having a joint discussion between Gleebe and Carter Harrison does not strike the Republican favorably. It is strangely silent, at least.

It is said that Mr. Blaine has given orders that Neal Dow shall not cackle so loud. He may whisper loud enough to be heard by the prohibitionists, but not by the beer drinkers.

The Quincy Journal says: "Samuel J. Tilden may be paralyzed, but he is one of several gentlemen in this country who can put the republican party in the same unhappy condition."

BLAINE has not been pushing his theory, lately, about the distribution of the surplus revenue. Nor has Logan been shouting for giving the whiskey tax for educational purposes.

The Taylorville Democrat notes the fact that "there has been more joy manifested in the republican ranks over Tilden's letter declining a nomination, than there was over Blaine's nomination."

With downright stealing to the extent of many thousands of dollars, and repeated perjuries positively proven staring him in the face, why don't Bro. Mosser call on Jake Wheeler to get off the case?

WHENEVER a democrat had that republicans boastfully cut off Harper's Weekly because of its independence, they should see to it that for every old subscriber dropped, two new ones should be furnished.

The Watertown, N. Y. Re Union is opposed to Cleveland. It is published at the old home of Hon. Roswell P. Flower, whose presidential aspirations were the subject of considerable discussion previous to the New York state convention.

The Republican has had "a far-away" look about it for several days past. We cannot get it to say anything about home matters. It will not even say anything of "Jake" Wheeler's speculations from the government, let alone the license question. How are you on the license question, anyhow, Mr. Republican?

Bro. Dowdall has had on his war paint to fight Carter Harrison, but he got lowned in the battle in Peoria county. How much better he will succeed next week remains to be seen! Bro. Dowdall, you had better join the procession; you may find yourself near the rear just now, but you can soon fight your way to a front rank.

Considerable of a sensation has been created in railroad circles by the announcement from headquarters that as soon as the new officials can be selected, the Wabash will be separated from the rest of the Gould systems and operated as an independent line under the management of an entirely new set of officers. Last week a conference between Messrs, Gould, Hayes, Hoxie and Humphreys was held in New York, and the matter fully discussed, resulting in a reluctant agreement on the part of the managers and the railway to relieve the Missouri Pacific officials of all responsibility for the future conduct of the Wabash. There were two points to be considered in arriving at a decision in the matter. On the one hand, there was no question that the present Wabash management, from its intimate acquaintance with the affairs of the road as well as from the high standing as railroad men of the gentlemen composing it, was best suited to operate the system, judiciously and in the interest of the creditors. On the other hand, however, there was the probability, already publicly expressed in many instances, of an outcry among the creditors that Mr. Gould had forced the receivership simply as a means of draining the Wabash of the last dollar that could be gotten out of it for the benefit of the Missouri Pacific, the road being continued under the control of the Missouri Pacific officials with this object in view. Besides this there was also the objection that the Missouri Pacific officers could not, in justice to their connection with the latter property, perform faithfully the responsible duties, which, as officials of the Wabash, also would be forced upon them. Under the circumstances, it would be too much for any man or set of men to do. It was therefore decided bent, upon the whole, to divide the two systems, and the change will go into effect July 1.
The new arrangement will relieve the following gentlemen of all connection with the Wabash: St. Louis and Peoria railways, H. S. Hayes, First Vice President; A. L. Hopkins, Second Vice President; H. M. Hoxie, Third Vice President; A. A. Talmage, Fourth Vice President; George Olds, General Traffic Manager; G. W. Lilley, Freight Traffic Manager; H. C. Townsend, General Passenger Agent, France Chandler, General Ticket Agent, and other heads of departments, agents, etc., who have hitherto been jointly in the employ of the Wabash and Missouri Pacific. The road in the future will be operated by a much smaller force than formerly. The officers will probably be as follows: General Agent, General Manager, Superintendent of Transportation, General Freight Agent and General Passenger Agent. James E. Hoxie now holds the position of General Agent, and the other officers will probably be determined on to-day. The position of General Manager was tendered Col Talmage and was respectfully declined. Col. Thomas McKissock, formerly General Manager of the Wabash, is spoken of as the man who will take the place, also Mr K. H. Wade, the present Superintendent of Transportation on the Wabash. Mr J. F. Ripley, Assistant General Freight Agent, though he has only been with the road a short time, is considered to have the inside track on the General Freight Agency, and Mr. H. A. Fisher, assistant to General Passenger Agent Townsend, will doubtless succeed the latter as far as the Wabash is concerned.

Townsend, General Passenger Agent, France Chandler, General Ticket Agent, and other heads of departments, agents, etc., who have hitherto been jointly in the employ of the Wabash and Missouri Pacific. The road in the future will be operated by a much smaller force than formerly. The officers will probably be as follows: General Agent, General Manager, Superintendent of Transportation, General Freight Agent and General Passenger Agent. James E. Hoxie now holds the position of General Agent, and the other officers will probably be determined on to-day. The position of General Manager was tendered Col Talmage and was respectfully declined. Col. Thomas McKissock, formerly General Manager of the Wabash, is spoken of as the man who will take the place, also Mr K. H. Wade, the present Superintendent of Transportation on the Wabash. Mr J. F. Ripley, Assistant General Freight Agent, though he has only been with the road a short time, is considered to have the inside track on the General Freight Agency, and Mr. H. A. Fisher, assistant to General Passenger Agent Townsend, will doubtless succeed the latter as far as the Wabash is concerned.

Considerable of a sensation has been created in railroad circles by the announcement from headquarters that as soon as the new officials can be selected, the Wabash will be separated from the rest of the Gould systems and operated as an independent line under the management of an entirely new set of officers. Last week a conference between Messrs, Gould, Hayes, Hoxie and Humphreys was held in New York, and the matter fully discussed, resulting in a reluctant agreement on the part of the managers and the railway to relieve the Missouri Pacific officials of all responsibility for the future conduct of the Wabash. There were two points to be considered in arriving at a decision in the matter. On the one hand, there was no question that the present Wabash management, from its intimate acquaintance with the affairs of the road as well as from the high standing as railroad men of the gentlemen composing it, was best suited to operate the system, judiciously and in the interest of the creditors. On the other hand, however, there was the probability, already publicly expressed in many instances, of an outcry among the creditors that Mr. Gould had forced the receivership simply as a means of draining the Wabash of the last dollar that could be gotten out of it for the benefit of the Missouri Pacific, the road being continued under the control of the Missouri Pacific officials with this object in view. Besides this there was also the objection that the Missouri Pacific officers could not, in justice to their connection with the latter property, perform faithfully the responsible duties, which, as officials of the Wabash, also would be forced upon them. Under the circumstances, it would be too much for any man or set of men to do. It was therefore decided bent, upon the whole, to divide the two systems, and the change will go into effect July 1.
The new arrangement will relieve the following gentlemen of all connection with the Wabash: St. Louis and Peoria railways, H. S. Hayes, First Vice President; A. L. Hopkins, Second Vice President; H. M. Hoxie, Third Vice President; A. A. Talmage, Fourth Vice President; George Olds, General Traffic Manager; G. W. Lilley, Freight Traffic Manager; H. C. Townsend, General Passenger Agent, France Chandler, General Ticket Agent, and other heads of departments, agents, etc., who have hitherto been jointly in the employ of the Wabash and Missouri Pacific. The road in the future will be operated by a much smaller force than formerly. In accepting the Chairmanship Mr. Jones said he appreciated the honor of the position. He asked for the cordial assistance of the committee during the campaign. He referred in complimentary terms to the Republican ticket, saying that Mr. Halsey was a man whose name was known and whose name was known to the American people. He said that the Democratic party must be held to its record of free-trade and tariff for revenue only. He said that the chances of Republican success in November were excellent.

The headquarters were established at 223 Fifth Avenue. Senator Chaffee was made permanent Chairman of the Executive Committee and Colonel Hooker Secretary. Messrs. Chaffee, Eldins and Hobart were appointed a sub-committee with full powers to act during the recess, and it is understood they will support the Chairman in the active work of the campaign. At night the sub-committee added to its membership Messrs. Conger of Michigan, and Glickson of Iowa, who will have special control of the campaign work in the Western States. The work of organizing the details of the campaign will begin at once.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTIONS.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 27.—The Democratic State Convention completed its labors yesterday. The convention was the largest ever held in the State, and the interest in the proceedings was intense. The delegates were all white and represented every county. The delegates-at-large to Chicago are as follows: Thomas Rudin, William T. Dorset, J. S. Carr and G. H. Brown. While they are in sympathy with Bryan, they believe it good policy to nominate Cleveland.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 27.—The Democratic State Convention met here yesterday. Charles H. Shumton, of Charleston, was made temporary Chairman. Senator Wade Hampton, C. H. Siler, E. W. Dawson and L. F. Young were elected delegates-at-large. Hampton and Youngs prefer Bryan, and Dawson favors Cleveland in the presidential preference is unknown, but he is expected to be for Cleveland. The Congressional district delegates have not indicated their choice. The convention kept the delegates uninstructed. A low-tariff platform was adopted. A resolution that the Chicago delegates vote as a unit was tabled. The present State officers were re-nominated by acclamation. The convention then adjourned.

LEVY, Ark., June 27.—The Arkansas Democratic State Convention reassembled yesterday. Pending the thirty-fourth ballot, the name of Fletcher was withdrawn and ex-Attorney General S. P. Hughes declared the nominee for Governor by acclamation. A recess was then taken till three o'clock.

In the afternoon the convention completed the ticket by nominating E. B. Moor for Secretary of State; A. W. Field, to Auditor; W. E. Woodruff, Jr., for Treasurer; Woodruff, Jr. for Secretary of Public Instruction; D. W. Carroll, for Chancellor; J. W. Callaway, for Chancellor; Paul M. Cobbs, for Land Commissioner; Dan W. The delegates are uninstructed.

DECATUR, Ill., June 27.—The Democratic State Convention reassembled yesterday to ballot for Governor. The name of Barnes was withdrawn. On the sixth ballot General E. A. Barry received 177 votes, and on the seventh ballot he was elected Governor by acclamation. Mr. Barry appeared in the convention and was allowed to make the nomination of General Perry by acclamation, which was carried. Mr. H. Mabry was nominated for Lieutenant Governor by acclamation.

THE INDEPENDENTS WILL HAVE A CANDIDATE.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—A special dispatch sent last night from this city to the San Francisco Chronicle says: The Independent People's Party held a secret conference in New York several days since, at which a course of action was mapped out. The conference ended with the nomination of New York and Massachusetts as the other New England States, with a spirit of unanimity from the New England States. It has been learned here that a determination to put a third candidate in the field at general election and the Democratic nomination, wherever it may be. George William Curtis, while the Independent People's Party, is the only candidate of the Independent People's Party who has been nominated by acclamation. It is understood that the Independent People's Party will support any man who might be selected, and the political influence of both parties is expected to be a factor in the election.
